

Bulldog_Corner

Sixth Grade Stock Market Project

The sixth grade class has been working on a stock market project. They had to first study several different companies to see which ones they wanted to invest their “money.” Each student was allowed $2,000 to invest in 2 or 3 companies. Each week, the students had to decide whether they wanted to keep their stock or sell and reinvest into another company. They have learned that the stock market really drops some weeks and does well in other weeks.

The student that made the most money on the first week earned $389.03. This is the student with his award of a pin that says “I love the Stock Market.”

The student that earned $316.35 was the big winner for the second week. She was also given a pin as a reward.

The stock market has not been very good to the sixth grade class this week. There were only 3 students that made a profit. This is the student that made the most profit. However, it was only $23.72.

Here is the best investor the next week. The stocks are still not doing very well.

The week of February 27th was a little better for the stock market. This student made over $300.00.

